

Wolf Food: Read the wolf story from the talk “Agency and Accountability” by Elder Shayne M. Bowen. Cut these “wolf food” pieces apart and take turns choosing them out of a pile one at a time. Read them to decide if it’s something that would feed the “evil” wolf or the “good” wolf. Put it in the paper bag for the wolf it’s feeding. Encourage them to think about which wolf inside of themselves they’re “feeding” with the choices they make each day.

Good Wolf Bag: Glue the wolf head either onto a paper bag or attach the mouth to a Ziploc bag. Cut hole where the mouth is. Attach snout above mouth hole. Have kids pull the snout up to feed the wolf the “good” wolf food pieces.

There is a story told of an old Cherokee teaching his grandson about life. “A fight is going on inside me,” he said to the boy.

“It is a terrible fight, and it is between two wolves. One is evil: he is anger, envy, sorrow, regret, greed, arrogance, self-pity, guilt, resentment, inferiority, lies, false pride, superiority, and ego.”

He continued, “The other is good: he is joy, peace, love, hope, serenity, humility, kindness, benevolence, empathy, generosity, truth, compassion, and faith. The same fight is going on inside you —and inside every other person too.”

The grandson thought about it for a minute and then asked his grandfather, “Which wolf will win?”

The old Cherokee simply replied, “The one you feed.”

Cut out the gray circle and attach a bag to the back of the wolf. Have the kids pull up and snout to feed the wolf.

Wolves in Color:

There is a story told of an old Cherokee teaching his grandson about life: "A fight is going on inside me," he said to me, "lay."

"It is a terrible fight, and it is between two wolves. One is evil—he is anger, envy, sorrow, regret, greed, arrogance, self-hate, guilt, resentment, inferiority, lies, false pride, superiority, and ego."

He continued, "The other is good—he is joy, peace, love, hope, serenity, humility, kindness, tolerance, empathy, generosity, truth, compassion, and faith. The same fight is going on inside you—and inside every other person too."

The grandson thought about it for a minute and then asked his grandfather, "Which wolf will win?"

The old Cherokee simply replied, "The one you feed."
